

An object in the work "Score for a longer conversation" by Bård Breivik

An idea is not strong in itself, nor is it becoming strong by some kind of embedded dynamics. Ideas need coinciding interest to grow, engagement to be visible, investments to move and network to be present.